

In Copenhagen, BLOX, a building with multiple readings

(Copenhagen, Denmark)

Interior and exterior lighting design of a building located along the Inderhavn canal, in Copenhagen: exhibition space and bookstore of the Danish Architectural Center, auditorium, corridors, Realdania's office, living spaces at the last two levels, but also playgrounds and skate-park area outside, promenade along the former Docks. The multiple functions of the building are mixed with the street space. Between above and below, combining the views between public and private space, privacy and public space, playing limits. © OMA.
