

First french commercial eco-park, the «Atoll»

(Angers, France)

The new commercial center Atoll in Beaucouzé, close to Angers, is like an island : a 2km ring containing shops, only accessible from the inner core. The pure perforated skin has three outside entrances leading to a central parking. Atoll is the first French éco-commercial parc. The lighting make it glow as a landscape signal. The dynamic lighting of the perforated skin makes the enclosure radiate as a landmark in the meadows. On the other hand, the inner skin is fixedly illuminated. The light adapts to the events and communication of the centre. The Inner core and its trees, its giant stones containing shops, its circulations... are also lit.

contracting authority
Compagnie de Phalsbourg
architecture
AAVP
lighting design
les éclaireurs

budget
128 000 000 € e VAT
surface area
22 hectares
completion 2012
photos by Eric Heranval