

Development of Christianshavns Torv, a heart in the city (Copenhagen, Denmark)

Lighting design of Christianshavns Torv in Copenhagen, on the theme of Greenland. The place is bathed in color and image projections of icebergs. A river runs through the bright spot, rushes into the tube and pushes its foam into the city. The statues of the Inuit, present in the square are lit in warm tones. The proposal is accompanied by a lighting plan rewarding walk along the canal. The exchange and discovery with our Danish colleagues was very rich. It was the goal of the project, meeting and exchange. Joint work with Franziska Bönecke, lighting designer at A&F, we showed that we share a common approach in lighting.
